Officials at Titan Sports, Greenwich, Conn., are in preparations for Wrestlemania II. The closed-circuit event is tentatively scheduled for April 7, although a venue for the live bout hasn't yet been determined.

Titan's Ed Cohen said more than 200 venues will be signed to receive the closed-circuit signal. More than one million patrons paid to see last year's Wrestlemania (AB, April 13), which featured as many rock 'n' rollers in the ring as it did wrestlers and garnered international attention.

This year's card, according to Cohen, will be "centered around the top names in the World Wrestling Federation." However, negotiations are currently ongoing to bring in "two major celebrities" to participate in what Cohen expects to be "the most elaborate sports entertainment event ever."
